

REFORM WHERE IT IS NEEDED

The policy of the state and city authorities in repairing and building streets, bridges, sidewalks, etc., during the months of July and August is a serious mistake. It not only cripples the farmers who need help, but it seriously interferes with traffic. For instance, just when traffic is at its height, oil the state highways, tear up, blockade this and that street. Practically all of this lack of proper service is due to poor management due to conflicting authority. Take the situation here, State street should have been rebuilt in April. The workmen needed the employment, but no—it is being done now when these men can find work everywhere. Portsmouth could set an example for other cities in doing its work in the early spring. The cry is already out, "No one to help the farmer." Will the lesson ever sink into the politicians?

BOSTON NOW THE SECOND BIGGEST SEAPORT CITY

Boston, July 5.—Import duties amounting to the record-breaking total of $63,621,063.93 were collected, and imports valued at $349,413,321 were received in the Massachusetts customs district during the fiscal year ending June 30, entitling the port of Boston, by a good margin, to rank second only to New York, according to announcement made today by Collector of the Port Wifred W. Lufkin. Collections figure to a total two and one-half times larger than for any previous fiscal year ending June 30, 1922. Duties collected amounted to $19,141,653.56, and imports had valuation of $163,073,748, while in 1910, the biggest previous year, duties amounted to $29,236,000.

Imports for June alone were valued at $26,761,788, and duties collected amounted to $5,007,398.95. In June, 1922, imports had value of $15,001,016, and duties totaled $2,082,144.96.

Claim of second place among the ports of the country for imports was made by Collector Lufkin, who incidentally called attention to the claim of second place recently made in behalf of New Orleans, with collections of duties aggregating $25,277,709 during the fiscal year just ended, and Baltimore, with duties of $9,781,435 for the same period.

Collections under the tariff act of 1922, from Sept. 2, 1922, to June 30, 1923 inclusive, amounted to $50,071,775.47. March was the largest single month of the fiscal period, with collections of approximately $9,000,000. Higher valuation of goods, as well as increased tonnage, contributed to swell the year's totals.

Collector Lufkin announced also that the cost of collecting duties has been reduced in the Massachusetts district from seven and one-half cents on the dollar to one and one-half cents, a notable achievement in the matter of economy of operation.

The great total of imports for the year, he said, reflected prosperous conditions in New England, considering especially that raw materials formed 95 per cent of the merchandise was consigned to New England points. He said that but for the great capacity of the Army Supply Base at South Boston, a war-time contribution to the port's facilities, Boston probably could not have handled all of the business that it had been possible to take care of the past year.

In the matter of vessel arrivals from foreign ports, the customs figures show that 1320 vessels, with aggregate net tonnage of 4,640,263 arrived at this port during the eleven months ending May 31, compared with 1266 vessels of 2,792,071 net tons during the corresponding period a year ago.

FAMOUS BIBLE GOES TO ITALY

London.—The famous Bible of the Borsos d'Este, valued at $250,000 and belonging at one time to the late Emperor Karl of Austria, has been purchased by a rich Milan manufacturer, who outbid an American banker for it.

The Bible is illuminated by artists of the 15th century and is regarded by antiquarians as the finest specimen of its kind in existence. During his stay in Switzerland Karl, being short of money, sold the rare book to a London antiquary, who in turn disposed of it to its present owner in Italy.

OLD HAND T. W. PRIEST MAKES POOR SHOWING AT THE WESTBROOK MUSTER

Among the first class handtubs to contest in the playout at Westbrook, Me., on July 4 was the Senator Baxter of Bath, formerly the T. W. Priest of Portsmouth. The old tub could do nothing on account of the wind and came in sixth among the machines of her class, with 184 feet five inches. She just escaped being at the foot of the list, the place filled by the James W. Plasted of Portland with 184 feet 7 1-4 inches. The winner was G. P. Burgess No. 5 of Rockport, with 195 feet 2 1-2 inches. The other tubs in the playouts and the records are the following:

Albert R. Havener of Rockland, 191 feet 10 3-4 inches; Sagadahoc, No. 1, of Bath, 190 feet 3 3-5 inches; the Robert Cosgrove, formerly the Bau Beece of Gardiner, 134 feet 11 1-2 inches.

SECOND CLASS

Hecla, No. 1, of Randolph, 174 feet 11 inches; Androscooggin of Topsham, 169 feet 5 1-2 inches; Tiger, No. 4 of Hallowell, 164 feet eight inches; Saccarappa of Westbrook, 162 feet, 2 3-8 inches.

A BIRTHDAY INVITATION

Come home! my sons and daughters
To Portsmouth by the sea,
To my birthday party at Strawberry Bank
In nineteen twenty-three.
Here, where your fathers chose their homes
I ask you to return
And on my anniversary week
To your home town adjourn.

Come home! see the new bridge extend
From Portsmouth's shore to Maine.
Near this bridge by the water front
No buildings now remain.
A park from State to Daniel street
And Mulberry street, shows plain;
All Portsmouth's sad memorials
For sons, in World War slain.

Although I have improved with age
I keep old homes with pride
The Warner house, the Lear house, too,
Not far from the river side.
I have an Army and Navy Home
Where service men can meet.
It's very near the water front
And stands on Daniel street.

On Rundlett's Mountain, the Lookout, Too,
Are modern dwellings high.
Boys do not picnic there today,
Take lunch of cake and pie.
For I've a spacious playground now,
And there young people find
Room for their athletic sports—
And games of various kind.

A modern Franklin school I have,
Named for the one of yore.
And the electric cars now run
To peaceful Christian Shore.
A school that's named the Lafayette
And one with Whipple's name,
Another for Admiral Farragut,
Men of historic fame.

The Volstead law long since removed
The brewing plants from here.
No more old Portsmouth has the name
Of manufacturing beer.
There's one familiar face there seen
The clock's face on the tower,
That, plainly shows as in the past
But does not tell the hour.

The Goodwin field is now a park
With a soldiers' monument there.
I've another park on Pleasant street
The gift of an Haven heir.
There's a statue of John Fitz-Porter
Here,
Near this place he was born.
This man served well his country
And is, by birth, my son.

This invitation is for all,
Though far away they roam.
And voices singing "Auld Lang Syne"
Are wafted from your home.
I've been a long time coming,
This Tercentenary year.
Come home! three hundred years from now
Your friends will not be here.
CLARA A LYNN.

You can be certain of the same success in cooking that has brought fame to other cooks by following their directions and using the same flour they insist upon using.

Baking Powder Biscuits

Use level measurements. Sift flour one time before measuring. The liquid should be added slowly. A soft dough patted out with the hands will give a flakier biscuit than a stiffer dough rolled out. To mix the fat with the flour, cut in with knives or a biscuit cutter, or cook off the hands with cold water and use the tips of fingers.

2 cups of John Alden Flour,
4 teaspoons of baking powder,
1/4 teaspoon salt,
3 tablespoons shortening,
1 cup milk.
(If sour milk is used instead of sweet, use 1/2 tsp. of soda and only 2 tsp. baking powder.)

Sift the baking powder, salt, and the soda, if it is used, with the flour. Cut in the shortening, add the liquid, and pat out on a floured board to about one inch in thickness. Use with a biscuit cutter. Bake in a hot oven 12 to 15 minutes.

MEAT EATING INCREASES IN THE FAR EAST

Powell, representatives of the Australian Meat Council at Sydney, who have come to the Philippines to make an investigation with a view to increasing meat shipments to the archipelago.

"There is a growing demand for meat in the Far East," said Mr. Cameron. The Far East countries can not supply this demand and we believe Australia is the logical source of supply. We can furnish approximately 50,000 tons of meat yearly.

"Lean meats are sent from Australia to the warmer countries, the fatter meats going to the colder ones. Not

AUSTRIANS ARE DRINKING LESS WINE

Vienna.—Wine growers and wine sellers in Austria are alarmed at a recent notable reduction in the consumption of their wares. They are loud in their complaints, and the inundate parliament with proposals for help.

The principal causes of the falling off in the consumption of wine would seem to be, first, the exorbitant prices asked by both producer and inn-keeper, and second, the conditions of unemployment and half-time employment still reigning in the country. These have converted the wine lover perforce into a water drinker.

GERMAN TOBACCO THREATENS TO SPOIL A MONOPOLY

Tokio.—Although protected by a customs duty of 35 per cent ad valorem, the Japanese tobacco monopoly held by the government had a scare thrown into it last month when the returns of imports showed that German cigarettes were being dumped here and being sold here at a price below that charged by the monopoly.

A cry immediately arose for a further increase in the import duty, or, alternately that the government should purchase the German cigarettes or tobacco and retail them through the usual sources. Imported cigars and cigarettes are sold in Japan at almost prohibitive prices.

UNABLE TO FIND A CAUSE FOR FATAL ACCIDENT AT YORK

Commissioner Makes Report on Death of Two Men Killed by B. & M. Train on June 1st

The Public Utilities Commission of Maine have rendered the following decision in the accident at Long Beach on the York Harbor and Beach branch of the Boston and Maine on June 1 when Lewis Rosenthal and William Albert of Boston in a truck were struck by a mixed train and instantly killed. The report says that from the evidence it is impossible to determine what caused the driver of the truck to drive onto the crossing in front of the train after he had apparently slowed down his car to wait for the train to pass.

"On June 1, 1923, at about 12.02 p. m. Train No. 2,807 struck a Dodge truck at Long Beach grade crossing," says the decision of the public utilities commissioners.

"The occupants of the truck were Lewis Rosenthal, aged 57 years, and William Albert, aged 49 years, both of Boston, Mass., continues the decision. "The truck was demolished and both men were instantly killed.

"From the evidence taken at the hearing held by the commission at Portsmouth, and York Beach, Me., it appears that Train No. 2,807 left Portsmouth at 11.10 a. m., for York Beach. As the train was approaching the Long Beach station, the engineer slowed down, allowing the train to drift, so as to make the stop at the Long Beach station in case there were any passengers.

"As there were no passengers at the station the train continued on its way toward York Beach. As the train approached the crossing, the engineer saw a Dodge truck coming down the road toward the crossing. As the truck reached the crossing, it suddenly increased its speed and ran onto the crossing in front of the train.

"The train struck the truck, dragging it a distance of about 250 feet. Mr. Rosenthal was thrown from the truck, and the body of Mr. Albert was found in the truck. Both men were instantly killed. The bodies were placed in charge of Dr. W. W. Verrill, who had been called to the scene of the accident. They were later placed in charge of an undertaker and taken to South Berwick.

"Testimony shows that there is a clear view at the crossing, and that a train can be seen for a long distance coming down the track in either direction. It also shows that the usual crossing signals were given by the engineer of Train No. 2,807."

BOYS SPORTS AT PLAYGROUNDS

The weekly sports for boys 12 years and younger were held at the playgrounds on Thursday afternoon with an unusually large turnout of youngsters. These sports are proving very popular with the boys of this age and they look forward to them all week. It is the desire of Director Woods to conduct sports for boys between the ages of 12 and 18 every Tuesday afternoon if enough fellows show up. As it is now only a few of this age come to the playgrounds, thus making it impossible to carry out any sport events.

TAILORESS, NOW 93, FINDS STYLES QUEER

Waterville, Me., July 5—"I haven't much use for the present day styles. They seem queer to me," said Mrs. Ann M. Morrill of 57 Silver street who celebrated her 93rd birthday today. The young people of today laugh at the dresses worn by women 50 years ago, declaring that they are queer but I do not think they are any queerer than some of the regalia worn by the women of today.

Mrs. Morrill was a tailorress for many years and is still much interested in styles. She was born in West Waterville in a log cabin in 1830, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ruel Sawtelle. The cabin was in the middle of a forest and it was not uncommon for Mr. Sawtelle to go out and shoot a bear or other wild animal to supply the family larder.

On August 16, 1865 she married Winthrop Morrill and they lived on a little farm in West Waterville. Mr. Morrill died several years ago. There are five children living.

AUTO HITS COW, COW HITS MAN LEADING HER

Owner and Animal Tossed
Several Feet But Not Badly Injured

Albert Shaw, a resident of Hampton was tossed over 30 feet and a cow he was leading, 25 feet, when struck by an automobile near his home Thursday morning. Mr. Shaw is an aged man and how he and the animal escaped from fatal injury is a mystery.

According to the Shaw side of the story, the injured man was leading a cow on the extreme right of the highway when an automobile driven by Edward Weinstein of Roxbury and two other men came along at a rapid clip, struck the cow and then struck Shaw. The animal landed against a tree and was injured about the legs.

Mr. Shaw escaped with no broken bones but was badly bruised and cut and is suffering from the shock.

An attachment was placed on the automobile and the owner allowed to proceed after the necessary bond had been given.

This was formerly known as the Hall house or Stoddley's Hotel and built in 1861. Elijah Hall, first lieutenant of the Ranger, of which John Paul Jones was captain, lived there. He was said to have been a true patriot and accompanied John Paul Jones on many expeditions. The house was built by Col. James Stoddley and was kept by him as a tavern. It was for a long time the most fashionable hotel in this city. The property is now owned by Arthur Dedes.

BIG LION CLAWS THE TRAINER IN SPARKS CIRCUS AT PORTLAND

During the performance of Sparks Circus in Portland one of the huge Nubian lions became peevish and contributed a feature not down on the program in clawing Steve Batty, lion trainer and tamer and gave some of those in the audience a scare for a few minutes.

Blank shots from Batty's pistol failed to quell the lion as it began to cut up and the trainer leaped from the cage to the ground just as the animal made a vicious swipe with one of its paws. Batty was scratched until the blood came, but he immediately got back into the cage and soon had the lion and its three mates going through their stunts as though nothing had happened.

The Free Country.

In one great city park a certain caretaker has been on the job many years. When he remonstrates courteously, as is his duty, with the strewners of peanut shells, banana skins, old papers, egg shells and the rest, these are the answers he gets oftener:

"This is a free country, and I don't have to pick up stuff if I don't want to."

"I am a taxpayer and I help pay your wages. It's your job to clean up."

The obvious answers, that although the country may be "free" it certainly is not beautiful when littered with old papers and garbage, and that there would be less taxes to pay if everybody helped to take care of the country, seem to have little effect.

It sets an eight-generations American to wondering what a "free country" really means. It meant at the outset a country where one was free to worship God as he saw fit, without prison or torture. It meant in the days of the framing of the Constitution a place where one might have freedom of speech, or press and of assembly. In the day of Lincoln it meant owning one's person and labor.

There isn't, strange as it may seem, when one contemplates the parks and roadsides, any constitutional right to uglify everything one touches.

There are too many laws, everyone says. Why? Because too many people have considered this a "free country" in the sense of being a place where they may be as disagreeable as they like, without regard to their neighbors.

This can only be a "free country" in the beautiful sense of those words, when every American considers himself bound to show his affection for it by helping to maintain its beauty, both of outward form and inward spirit.

Wasted Steel.

The American Institute of Steel Construction finds that more steel is being used in modern buildings than is necessary—that in most cases a somewhat lighter construction can be adopted without danger of collapse. It is pointed out that economy of the sort recommended would save hundreds of thousands of tons of steel a year, and millions of dollars.

This is a matter in which it is better to err on the side of safety than on the other side. But the engineering experts doubtless know what they are doing, and it is one of the first principles of efficiency as well as conservation not to use power or weight far in excess of actual requirements. Iron ore will not last forever, and human labor represents human life as well as wealth. Why waste either?

And it is not only in structural work that steel is being wasted. Various engineers and manufacturers have been pointing out lately the enormous overload represented in the rolling stock of American railroads and trolley lines. Trolley cars are being made now for some lines with only half the weight of those used in recent years. Henry Ford insists that the weight of railroad passenger cars likewise could be cut in half. That would mean also lighter locomotives, less power needed for hauling, less fuel consumed and less steel for rails.

There is extra weight in automobiles, too, and in a hundred other things of extensive use. It is more important just now to eliminate this waste than it is to find new sources of ore, fuel and labor.

Play in City Life.

Persons who consider municipal playgrounds as modern foolishness forget that the city of today deprives its residents of much natural and normal exercise. Easy transportation by automobile or electric railway has almost eliminated the need and the practice of walking to and from business. Hunting, fishing and woodland rambles are impossible in the city.

Yet people still need exercise as much as did their forebears in the days before the high development of urban life. It is to meet that need that the playground with its tennis courts, the parks, the municipal golf courses, the swimming pools, the streets closed at certain hours for play or coasting as the location and season indicate, and all the other means of active recreation exist. They deserve the support of intelligent citizens. The present tendency to include grown-ups as well as children in these recreational provisions is a good thing for American life.

Some day, when this doctrine of self-determination has gone far enough, we'll have the Earth deciding to go it alone and start its own gravitational system, having nothing more to do with foreign planets and luminaries.

It's been snowing in Fairbanks, Alaska, where President Harding is going. But never mind. He'll pay for it when he gets down to Panama.

If laws could change human nature the millennium would have been here half a dozen millenniums ago.

ROUNDTREE WAS SHOT IN ROW OVER CARD GAME

In the Lawrence Hospital Where He is Not Expected to Live

Isiah Roundtree, a former resident of Portsmouth and later of Newburyport, is in a Lawrence hospital with two revolver shot wounds and is not expected to live. He was shot by Corbett Vasser of Lawrence as the result of an argument over 25 cents during a card game. Vasser is under arrest charged with intent to murder.

According to the Lawrence police, Roundtree informed them that he had gone to the game, armed with a razor, as he knew Vasser would be there and he feared him; but he had no opportunity to use the razor, he claims, since Vasser drew a bead on him and fired as soon as the argument began and before he had any chance to defend himself.

A few hours after the shooting, and apparently as a sequel to it, a stabbing took place at the same house, and the proprietor, William Lewis, was severely slashed. The police are investigating this latest phase of the affair.

DOING ALL HE CAN TO DIE A POOR MAN

By Viola Brothers Shore
New York, July 3.—Nathan Straus, one of America's greatest merchants and philanthropists, at the age of seventy-five is doing the best he can to give his fortune away.

For this man who interested himself in charity when still quite young and before he had made his great wealth has a code which does not believe in large bequests after death to charitable institutions.

"Why wait that long?" the merchant prince asked. "Giving is one of the joys of life which never palls and never lessens but grows by feeding on what it does."

"It is only a matter of time before it will be considered a disgrace for a man to die very wealthy. Instead of an honor roll for those who have helped their fellow men, I advocate a dishonor roll for those who have failed in their duty."

"If the rich people of the world—I mean those who have more than they can use—did their duty, half the misery of the whole world would be relieved."

"There is a Hebrew proverb which says, 'What you give in health is gold; what you give in sickness is silver; what you give after death is lead.'"

"People have to be educated to do good. They find they enjoy it, and gradually it becomes a habit. The farther they travel along the path of good deeds, the more they enjoy the traveling."

"Men like the Rockefellers, father and son, are the most inspiring examples of the good use to which great wealth may be put. They are among the greatest men on earth. I admire them particularly because they are doing their good work during their lifetime. Getting the ablest bacteriologists and scientists in the world to combat disease I consider even more important than establishing hospitals to cure it."

In a long career devoted to giving and to arousing in others a sense of their obligations, Mr. Straus has had peculiar opportunities for arriving at conclusions in regard to giving. He said:

"People of the middle classes are the easiest to approach on matters of charity or public welfare. Poor people haven't the means. And rich people have an elaborate system of defense."

"Most rich people have their excuses alphabetically card indexed so as to be readily available in case of an emergency attack. You seldom catch them so completely off their guard that they haven't at least one tried and trusty excuse where it is most accessible."

"All people who don't like to give use the same conversational tactics. After the first three minutes I can not only gauge my chances of interesting them but can ever guess how they will evade them, down to the very words they will use."

"Women are easier to interest than men. If the matter has anything to do with children, the response among women is about 100 per cent."

"Anything pertaining to the public health secures the immediate co-operation of women. I was able to accomplish the most wherever I had women working with me. And when they undertake a thing, they stick to it."

Mr. Straus began to interest himself in charity when he was young and still poor. At that time he said, "I can wait to make more money. I cannot wait to give. The opportunity to make money will always be here. This particular opportunity to do good will be gone forever if I let it pass."

"There would be very little charitable work in the world if people were afraid to leave their money after death, for fear that their motives might be misunderstood."

"Most of the hospitals in the country were endowed by rich men and women who left the money in their wills. 'If you cannot bear to part with your money during your lifetime, that seems a better way to dispose of it, than leaving it for lawyers to fatten on through litigation.'"

"Why should there be people, in this civilized age, suffering for lack of food, while a trustee receives $100,000 to administer a will?"

"There is no excuse for hunger or privation in America. The country never was so prosperous. Half the gold in the world is over here. One case of starvation or illness unattended is a blot on our national honor."

"The only way to wipe out those blots is through education and example. Education of the rich! Example of the rich."—Washington Times.

URGED THE UNION MEN TO TRADE AT HOME

At the regular meeting of the Central Labor Union held on Thursday evening, P. L. Leonard, international representative of the Bakery and Confectionery Union of America was present and spoke on the lack of the union men in some of the big bakeries in Boston and other places. He strongly advocated that the union men purchase their bread from their home bakeries and to urge upon all others to trade at home.

Mr. Leonard was formerly a resident of Concord and while there was the secretary of the Central Labor Union.

The Epworth League have decided to celebrate their annual Field Day as usual. The date agreed upon is September the 1st.

The supper and entertainment assigned for next Tuesday evening in the Epworth Hall promises to be the event of the season. You should not miss it. At the M. E. church next Sunday the order of services will be as follows: Divine worship at 10.30 with sermon on "Two Anxious Men." Special music. The children's story will be "The Bible and the Cook Book." The Sunday school session will follow, and "Marry, the mother of Jesus" will be discussed in class. The Epworth League at 6.30 will be in charge of Mr. Henry W. Guibrandsen who will introduce as the topic for consideration, "The World of Jesus' Time." In the evening at 7.30 there will be a popular service, with bright, lively singing. Pastor Smith will speak on "The Great American, T. R. and His Teachings." Patriotic songs will be sung. Put in a full day at church. You need the church and the church needs you. Don't desecrate the Sabbath.

Several of the Eliot boys were in attendance at the Epworth Hall on Thursday evening, and the first steps were taken to form a patrol of Boy Scouts of America. The boys brought in their application papers to the meeting duly signed with their parents, accompanied with the required fee of 50 cents. The Scoutmaster, Everett Cole, put them through the initiatory formula, and then taught them how to make several of the corded knots. It was a well-spent evening, and the boys enjoyed it immensely. The meetings are to be held every Thursday evening in the Epworth

PAIGE THE MOST BEAUTIFUL CAR IN AMERICA

3000 miles of care-free comfort

Has owned four cars costing more than Paige, but never one so delightful

Mr. H. M. Jewett, President, Paige-Detroit Motor Car Co., Detroit, Michigan.

Dear Mr. Jewett:

As requested in your letter of June 4, I am glad to write you more about my trip which you are at liberty to use for advertising. Not seeking any personal publicity, I would prefer that it be published without my name.

I have always driven cars costing considerably more than the Paige, feeling that the best was none too good for the kind of touring I like to do. Naturally, it was with some misgivings that I undertook my eastern trip in your car, with which I felt unfamiliar. Also, I have never used an enclosed car for touring before, and I expected it to be a little weak on hill climbing, as well as a little top-heavy on the road.

Starting without great confidence in the car because of its moderate price and because of my unfamiliarity with it, I was of course always looking for some kind of trouble to develop. From that point of view, my trip was a continual series of disappointments. I have had no trouble except what was due to my own carelessness, and might have occurred to the costliest car I could buy.

This seems a good place to say that one of the things I very much appreciate about the Paige, is the high character of its representatives and their eagerness to see that all Paige cars satisfy their owners, regardless of whether they sold them. I was also surprised at their moderate charges for various odd jobs, for which I have been accustomed to paying more.

But to tell you more about my trip, I am enclosing a map on which I have marked it. The roads are boulevards practically everywhere, except where I found repair wagons had not reached holes made by the severe winter weather, and some places where construction was under way. But it is in just such unfavorable road conditions that my Paige showed one of its fine advantages. It means something to me now that the Paige rear springs are more than five feet long, and that it has 131 inches of wheelbase. I can truthfully say I have never driven or ridden in any car which rode more comfortably and handled more easily on difficult roads.

There are long and fairly steep grades in the Cumberland Mountains, White Mountains, and the Adirondacks, all of which I went through. I am pleased to tell you that your claims about Paige hill climbing in high gear are true. Except when some sharp turn or crease ahead in the road made slowing down necessary, I practically never dropped into second speed. And on the down grades, where one frequently gets going a little too fast, I can truly say the car amazed me on the score of ease in changing into second, when going 25 or 30 miles an hour. I have been accustomed to using the scheme of spinning up the gears by letting in the clutch momentarily, but I found this not at all necessary with the Paige. My wife drove a large part of the trip with great enjoyment and without noticeable tiring. She joins me in my praise of Paige handling ease.

I don't know whether you will be interested in hearing my point of view on enclosed bodies, but I can tell you I am sold on them for touring, as well as for city work, after my experience. We drove two whole days with the automatic windshield wiper going all the time—on other days into dust clouds, or cold winds in the mountains. And the pleasure of being able to regulate one's own comfort by merely turning a window-handle, is one that I never appreciated before as I did in your Paige Brougham. Contrary to my expectations, the car is not hot in warm weather.

Perhaps I should close my letter by saying that the Paige is a far finer car than I ever imagined it to be. In fact, it is more comfortable to ride in, and easier to handle than any higher priced car I know of. If your car were better known for what it actually is, I am sure far more of them would be sold to people who have been accustomed to paying $3000 to $4000 for a touring car.

Very truly yours,

DON'T BRING ANY BOOZE IN MAINE WITHOUT PERMIT

Half Pint of Hooch or Even Cider Means $1000 or Three Years in Jail

Augusta, Me.—Act requiring any person transporting liquor in this state, whether it be a half pint, a gallon of cider or in larger quantities to have a Federal permit for such transportation, providing for a fine of not more than $1,000 or imprisonment for not more than three years, if two or more persons conspire and agree together to sell intoxicating liquor in this state, to provide for the registration of inland fishermen and providing for a tax on gasoline and all products used in operating internal combustion engines, are among those that will become operative at midnight next Saturday, a period of 90 days after the adjournment of the legislature.

So far as is known, none of the acts passed at the last session of the legislature will be subject to a referendum. It is true that a special election will be held in October on an act to limit the hours of labor of women and children in manufacturing, mechanical and mercantile establishments to 48 hours a week instead of 54 hours a week as at present, but this act is one that was initiated, it being the second one in the history of the state, the other being the so-called Davies measure to provide for the nomination of party candidates by the direct primary system.

Other measures passed by the last legislature which will become operative at midnight Saturday are acts to establish a teachers' retirement system, to make uniform the law of sale of goods, to abolish the title of land agent, to provide an investigation and survey of bridges, towns and village corporations, to change the title of the office of state superintendent of public schools to that of commissioner of education, giving the governor the authority to suspend the open season for fishing in case of extreme drought providing that any justice of the supreme judicial court or superior court, who has attained the age of 70 years shall be eligible to appointment as an active, retired justice with two-thirds pay, to make Armistice Day, Nov. 11, a school holiday, to regulate the practice of the system known as chiropractic and to create a board of examination and registration in chiropractic, authorizing the formation of non-profit, co-operative associations, with or without capital stock, for the purpose of encouraging the orderly marketing of agricultural products through co-operation, to provide for an issue of state highway and bridge bonds, to compel a traveling circus to pay the state a fee of $500, to provide for the licensing, inspection and regulation of hotels and private boarding houses, to revise and consolidate the banking laws to provide for the inspection, regulation and safety of vessels engaged in inland navigation under the jurisdiction of the public utilities commission, to provide for the better protection of banks in particular transactions, to regulate the sale of vinegar, to revise the military law, to provide for the supervision, regulation and conduct of the transportation of persons over the public highways by automobiles, jitney buses and auto stages, providing for the better protection of salmon, shad and alewives, making the open-time on deer from Oct. 15 to Dec. 1 instead of from Oct. 1 to Dec. 1 and to regulate the use of aircraft.

CANADIAN IMMIGRATION IN-CREASES

Ottawa, Ont., July 6.—Immigration into Canada increased 31 percent during the first four months of 1923 as compared with the same period a year ago, according to figures compiled by the Department of Immigration and Colonization.

Up to May 1, the figures show 22,140 immigrants entered the Dominion to take up permanent homes.

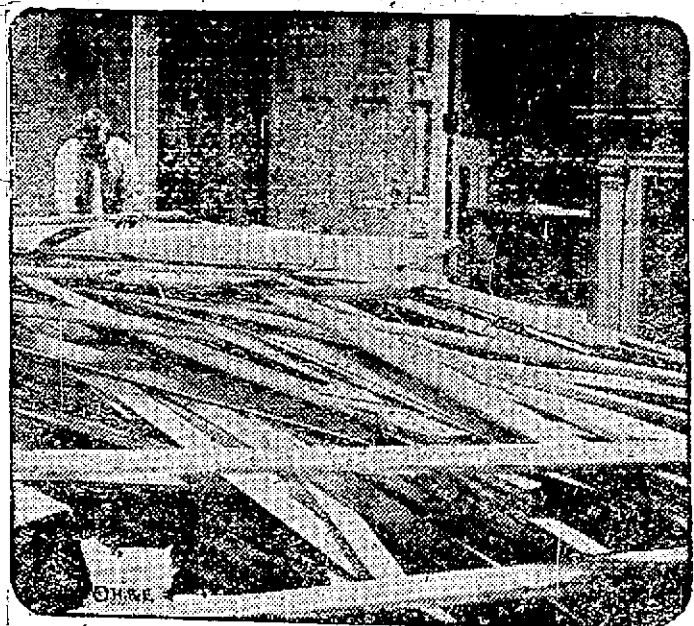

A MULTITUDE OF WOMEN
RECOMMEND IT

The strongest recommendation possible for any medicine to have is the sound testimony borne by the vast multitudes of women who have used it. It has been proved that 95 out of every 100 women once ill with ailments that caused suffering and despair have been restored to the joys of health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. This marvelous record shows its power over the ills of women, and the letters of recommendation we are continually publishing in this paper should induce every ailing woman to try it.

TO DESTROY SNAKES WITH POISON GASES

San Antonio, Texas, July 6.—Poisonous gases will be used in the destruction of Texas rattlesnakes, according to present plans of the predatory animal bureau of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, assisted by the chemical warfare service of the Eighth Army Corp Area. Major George M. Halloran, chemical warfare officer of the corps,

WHILE THE PRESIDENT'S AWAY

The carpenters are at play. This is the most recent photo of the executive office in the White House. The will have replaced the wood flooring by the time President Harding returns from his tour.

will begin experiments soon to determine which gas is the most effective in killing snakes.

Phosgene generally is considered by the bureau to be among the most fatal to animals with respiratory systems and will be tried first. Other gases which may be used in the experiments are chlorine, which asphyxiates, and mustard gas, which sears or burns. The preliminary tests will be conducted at Fort Sam Houston, under the plans.

"It is planned to ascertain through the summer which gas is most deadly to the rattlesnake, and when cold weather comes and the reptiles have gone to dens and hibernating places to experiment on them en masse," said an announcement.

WILL GO HARD WITH THOSE WHO DO RECKLESS DRIVING IN MAINE

Maximum Fine For First Offence is Now $200 Rather Than $50 and Lowest Fine For Second Time Is $200 and Possible Sentence

Augusta.—A heavier penalty has been provided for the violation of the statute relative to the reckless driving of motor vehicles, which will become operative at midnight next Saturday. Under the present law the maximum fine is $50 for the first offence. Under the law enacted by the last legislature the fine for the first offence has been increased to $200 and for the second offence the minimum fine has been increased to $200 and the maximum fine to $500 with a jail sentence discretionary with the court.

One of the important motor vehicle laws which will become effective Saturday night is that establishing a right of way for vehicles at intersecting ways, which is similar to the law of several other states. This act which is Chapter Nine of the Public Laws of 1923, is as follows:

"All vehicles shall have the right of way over other vehicles approaching at intersecting public ways from left, and shall give the right of way to those approaching from the right; except that traffic officers stationed at such intersections may otherwise regulate traffic thereat."

"Motor vehicles used for fire fighting will be exempt from the provisions relating to headlights. This act is Chapter 141 of the Public Laws of 1923, and is as follows:

"The provisions of this chapter governing the equipment or use of front lights on motor vehicles owned or controlled by municipalities or village corporations, and used for fire fighting purposes."

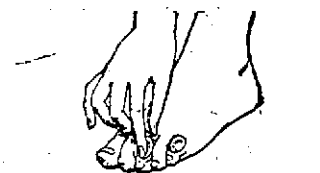

The maximum weight of heavy vehicles, under certain conditions, has been increased from 15,000 to 20,000 pounds, although the tires of a 20,000-pound vehicle must be such that there shall not be over 600 pounds an inch width of tire.

Section 25 of Chapter 124 of the Revised Statutes relative to fake officers has been amended so as to include state highway police. Any person falsely assuming to be a state traffic officer subjects himself to a minimum fine of $500 or to be imprisoned for not more than one year.

The last legislature failed to make any change in the law in relation to the registration of motor vehicles by non-residents. The law, therefore, remains just the same as when it was enacted in 1921.

Under the present law the non-resident pleasure car is allowed 30 days without registration and at the expiration of that period the owner must pay the annual fee required of residents. The commercial vehicle owned by a non-resident must be registered immediately upon crossing the border line into this state. A provision is made for a five day registration by non-resident truck owners.

TURKS TO CHANGE NAME OF ANCIENT GREEK SHRINE

(By Associated Press)

Constantinople.—In order to remove all vestiges of Greek domination of Constantinople, the Greeks intend to change the name of the historic mosque at St. Sophia to Mehmedie Mosque, that is the Mosque of Mahomet.

Founded by the builder of Constantinople itself, Constantine the Great who dedicated it to "Eternal Wisdom" St. Sophia Mosque is one of the most famous religious buildings in the world. For more than a thousand years it was one of Christianity's most cherished shrines. It was built in the year 326. It was destroyed by fire in 404, restored and again destroyed. Under Theodosius it was rebuilt into a magnificent church in 415, and 150 years later was further embellished by Justinian. Twenty years later the main dome fell in, and again it was restored to eclipse its former grandeur.

It is said 100 architects were employed each of whom had a staff of 100 artisans. The altar was of gems set in gold and silver; the doors were of ivory, amber and cedar, the outer one being silver plated. After the capture of Constantinople by the Turks in 1453 the church was converted into a mosque.

By the Turks St. Sophia Mosque is held in a veneration second only to that which surrounds the famous Kaaba, or Sacred House at Mecca. The Greeks regard it with equal sacredness and they have never given up their dream that a king of the name of Constantine would one day retake Constantinople for Greece and with it St. Sophia. They hoped the late King Constantine would fulfill the role, but political misfortune and death intervened.

COUPLE DEVOTE 70 YEARS TO PASSION PLAY SERVICE

(By Associated Press)

Oberammergau.—Jakob and Mathilde Rutz have just celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, one more milestone in two lives which have been devoted to the Passion Play for 70 years. Rutz was the village smithy of Oberammergau until age pulled him away from the forge, and is the father-in-law of Anton Lang, the renowned portrayer of the life of Christ.

In 1850, as a babe of three, Rutz took his original part in Oberammergau's famous play. He was then cast as Adam's son in one of the Old Testament tableaux which feature the performances. Ten years later he appeared as an alto soloist and in 1870 was chief assistant to the Passion Play prologist and their leader, Johannes Diemer. During the performances of 1880, Diemer again held this combination position but Rutz often substituted for him and in 1890 replaced the leader entirely.

For centuries the Diemer family has furnished the choir leader, Rutz being the only person ever to break in on this otherwise uninterrupted succession.

In 1870, when the Passion Play season had to be interrupted, Rutz was called to the colors for the Franco-Prussian war. It was an ironical coincidence that he was billeted during the hostilities with a French family which had once been his guests at Oberammergau while attending the play.

Mother Rutz's devotion to the Passion Play has expressed itself principally in hospitably caring for many of the thousands of tourists who trek this way every ten years. One of her two sons lives here and took a prominent part in last year's play; the other lives in Munich and is therefore not eligible to the cast. Her daughter Mathilde, the wife of Anton Lang, made a name for herself in former years as a Passion Play artist.

Rutz continues active in public life, as a member of the village government and one of the Passion Play executive committees.

JOYOUS BUCHAREST NEEDS NO BOOSTERS TO SING ITS PRAISES

(By Associated Press)

Bucharest.—Bucharest is growing faster than any city in Europe. It is spreading out in all directions over the neighboring plains in an effort to house its population of a million, which is still growing. In 1913 the capital's population was only 338,000, which included 35,000 Austrians and Hungarians and 43,000 Jews.

Bucharest is the joy-city of Europe. Love and laughter, song and wine, dancing and card-playing are as dear to the Rumanian heart as to the gayest spirits in Bohemia.

The Rumanian eats five times a day, and is ready for another repast at midnight. He dislikes going to bed. He loves his wine-jug and his cars. And he would die without his rum-coffee and his gossip about the latest scandal of the town.

The Calle Victoriei, Bucharest's Fifth Avenue, is studied with pretty women in the latest Parisian gowns and jewels. Smart looking army officers in high patent-leather boots and blue and gold uniform strut along the riads, shedding smiles on Rumania's lovely femininity. Among these dashing Don Juans and Lotharios one sees motley groups of gypsy men and women with their numerous progeny, some of the children without a stitch of clothing. For this is the land of Rumania, of the race from which the gypsy fortune-tellers and vagabonds of the United States claim descent. And the gyps believe that beauty unadorned is adorned the most.

Rumanian women, who admittedly are the most attractive and fascinating in the Balkans, owe their striking beauty to their strain of gypsy or Greek blood, their languorous eyes and their olive complexions. They are buoyant and vivacious, romantic and pleasure-loving.

Both sexes in Rumania use perfume, rouge and cosmetics in profusion. The cosmetic business is one of the most profitable in Rumania. The Rumanian men are tall, handsome and dark, but are inclined to be effeminate. They wear form-fitting jackets, waistbands and affect monocles and spats. This, of course, does not apply to the peasantry, who are a sturdy, homely, energetic lot, and constitute the backbone of the country and its chief hope for the future.

Although Bucharest prides itself on being the Paris of the Balkans, and French is spoken more than any other foreign tongue, there is a great desire on the part of the educated classes to learn English. American tutors are much in demand.

There are at present three newspapers printed in French, which is the court and society language, but it probably will not be long before a daily paper published in English will be established. Queen Marie, who is an accomplished writer, has published all her books in English, and that is the language of the royal family, although both the king and queen command facile use of half a dozen other tongues.

Tokio.—Taking a dose of his recently discovered medicinal preparation which he believed to be a cure for hookworm, Tachik Okumura, attached to the Epidemic Laboratory, sacrificed himself to science.

Mr. Okumura, with others, had been working for some years in an effort to find a cure for the disease. It is believed he was making a test on himself when the fatal dose was taken.

OLD STRAFFORD GUARDS MAY BE SEEN IN LINE

The members of the Strafford Guards Veterans' association and ex-members of the Strafford Guards of Dover, the state's oldest military organization and the oldest company in New England to maintain a continuous organization, are considering the proposal to participate in the city's 300th anniversary celebration by giving an old-time military drill under the old-time tactics, August 21, next, and at the same time celebrate the company's 100th anniversary which properly falls in October.

At a meeting of the veterans, presided over by Lieut. Col. Frank E. Rollins, a former commander of the Strafford Guards, all but one present voted to accept the invitation of the Tercentenary committee to conduct a drill on the day of the official joint celebration of the city and the state, August 21.

That one stated that he was crippled and could not drill, but that he would do all in his power to make the affair a success. Owing to the fact that a majority of the association was not present, final action on the invitation and the plan to celebrate the company's centennial at the same time was deferred until July 7.

There is said to be more than 100 ex-members of the ancient company living in Dover. If these can be brought together to put on a drill under the old Upton tactics, a very interesting feature of the tercentenary observance will be assured.

RHUR OCCUPATION INTERRUPTS TRAVEL

(By Associated Press)

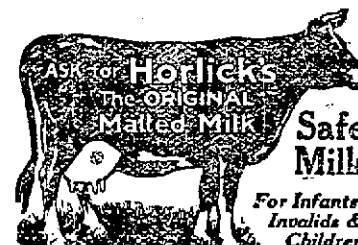

Basel, Switzerland.—Swiss tourist traffic has been hard hit by the French occupation along the Rhine and the consequent upsetting of through travel from Scandinavia, Holland, Poland and France which formerly drained through the Rhine valley.

Trains still run, but they are slow and irregular as compared with the service which formerly connected Ostend, Paris, Brussels, Rotterdam and Copenhagen with the German watering-places along the Rhine and in Switzerland. The public was accustomed to the old route and is slow to start on other lines which are not affected by the French occupation, but cannot offer the old-time de luxe service.

HOPE FOR CUT IN TAXES IS FADING

(By A. O. Hayward)

Irreconcilable conflict of opinion among republican party leaders over the policy to be pursued in advance of the 1924 election will defeat any move in the 68th congress for the downward revision of taxes, despite the $300,000,000 surplus accumulated by the treasury, according to opinions expressed in congressional circles today.

This difference of view is expected to lead to a decision that it would be unwise to open the revenue laws to changes because of the danger of stirring up the forces desiring the imposition of heavier tax burdens on the wealthy and on large corporations. Those who want lower taxes generally are not strong enough to resist an attack from this quarter, so the whole matter probably will be left to status quo.

Senator Reed Smoot (R) Utah, who will be chairman of the senate finance committee declared today on the eve of his departure for Europe, there would be no change in revenue laws by congress at its next session.

At the next meeting of congress Smoot declared there would be passed a soldier bonus bill. He announced he would try and have this bill provide its own financing through a sales tax. If such a tax could not get through the surplus will be needed to pay the soldier because Senator Smoot is unalterably opposed to use of foreign payments on account of foreign debts for this purpose. He says such payments should go to the reduction of the public debt.

Congressman Martin M. Madden republican, Illinois, chairman of the powerful house appropriations committee declares that every $100,000,000 treasury surplus should be reflected in tax reductions. The present surplus would make possible a sizeable reduction in taxes to the 7,000,000 income taxpayers.

Senator La Follette, republican, Wisconsin, and the Wisconsin delegation in the house are committed to a tax program which includes reenactment of the wartime excesses profits tax, new taxes on accumulated surpluses and undistributed profits of the corporations, repeal of the tax exempt privileges, and higher taxes on great fortunes. Congressman Nelson, republican, Wisconsin, leader in the group, has announced a following of fifty republican house members for the program. It is known that many democratic leaders favor the program in part.

Influential republican leaders in congress today asserted there was little prospect of harmonizing the conflicting views of republican factions on the tax legislation and it would be unwise to open the tax laws changes at the coming session.

NO WARTIME ATTEMPTS TO SABOTAGE LEVIATHAN

(By Associated Press)
New York, July 5.—The announcement today by engineers who reconditioned the Leviathan that war-time tales of German attempts to cripple the liner were false has left the ship-board in a quandary as to what to do with $15,000 worth of elaborate souvenir booklets containing a detailed account of the alleged sabotage, which were to have been distributed tomorrow on the ship's first voyage as an American liner.

F. H. Gibbs of Gibbs Brothers, engineers, who prepared the liner for service as an American passenger vessel, characterized as erroneous the story which was circulated after America's entrance into the war.

Damage to the vessel, originally supposed to have been the result of German sabotage, he said, had later been found to be the result of an accident in docking the Vaterland on her last trip to this country under the German flag in 1914.

An accident in getting the Vaterland into her Hoboken pier, Mr. Gibbs said, left the vessel with several broken turbine blades and other damaged parts. Efforts of German engineers to repair the damage made matters worse. When the broken parts were discovered, he asserted, credence was given to the story that the Germans had attempted to scuttle the ship on Feb. 3, 1917, just before the American government had taken possession of her.

GOOD RECORD FOR POSTAL CLERKS

Postmasters who have been receiving complaints of mistakes in handling of mail have inquired of those complaining if they can cite any organization that has such a daily high average as postal workers, the requirement of the department being 95 per cent.

In many instances the average is above that figure. A recent test in the Newmarket, N. J., office, shows that only 10 mistakes were made by the clerks in handling an even 1,000,000 pieces of mail.

DECLARES AUTOMOBILES ARE REVOLUTIONIZING WORLD

Money Spent For Cars is Kept From Other Trade—Shoe Dealers Hardest Hit by "Generation on Wheels"

By Roger W. Babson

Albany, N. Y.—We all marvel at the great growth of the automobile industry, the capital invested, the men employed and the auxiliary lines which have developed on account of automobiles. Some of us try to figure what this capital and these men would be doing today if it were not for automobiles—how many more homes there would be—how much more railroad mileage, etc. Very few, however, have realized that automobiles are entirely changing the fundamental character of our children and this in turn may revolutionize many industries.

When we were children a ten-mile drive was a considerable trip. A 150 miles was a great journey for which we would prepare for weeks. Many of us never traveled that far until we were grown up. Today, however, the situation is very different. Children will go 150 miles for a Sunday drive. Our young people use automobiles to go to the store and to church. They have become a necessity. We are raising a generation which will actually work and play on wheels.

This cannot help but greatly develop certain industries and harm others. At present the automobile is greatly helping the building industry because of the millions of people moving from the cities to the suburbs and country. After, however, this exodus has been completed, the building industry will fall flat. Why? Because instead of a young married couple now saving for a little home—they save for a car—or rather they buy a car on credit. Less money will be spent upon clothing than otherwise would and a different kind of clothing will be in demand. New diseases will develop and a change in diet will be necessary. A generation on wheels must eat much more fruit and fresh vegetables than a generation which walks.

Every business man should study this problem and ask himself how his business will be affected when a generation lives which almost never walks. The road builders will greatly benefit, but the shoe dealers must suffer. With a given population, less is produced by a generation on wheels than by a former generation which did not know the automobile. If less is produced, there will be less to divide. This means that many people must go without other things if they insist on having automobiles, and my guess is that they will so insist.

I believe in the permanence of the automobile industry—although, of course, many small manufacturers will be crowded out and 1924 may see an over-production of cars. The industry, as a whole, however, is stable and is here to stay. The difficulty is coming when the man who now buys on credit and assesses his employer to pay the bill, can no longer do this. Most industries will stand such an assessment once; but very few industries can stand such an assessment continually.

The laborer whom you are now paying $25 a week can buy his first car and can assess you to pay for it by demanding $30 per week instead of $25. But can he assess you for his second or third car; and can his children do the same thing? Frankly, I do not know. Only the future can tell.

The automobile industry is largely responsible for the condition of business today. The fact that the Babson chart stands at 1 per cent above normal compared with 17 per cent below a year ago is due largely to the automobile industry. When one considers that during the first six months of 1923 most states will show as many new registrations as during all of 1922—it is remarkable that business has not boomed more. The only answer is that people have bought automobiles instead of buying something else—that is, the sales of other things have fallen off correspondingly.

The law of action and reaction is absolute. Now, what will be the reaction of a new generation which knows not the joy of walking?—Washington Star.

AMERICA REARING RACE OF STARCH DRUNKARDS

New York, July 3—America is rearing a race of starch drunkards and the prohibition of alcohol is creating a new and vicious national psychology in the opinion of two speakers at the American Osteopathic convention today.

The name "starch drunkards" was coined by Dr. Grant Mitchell of Chicago in a debate with Dr. C. W. MacGregor of that city on duty. Dr. Herbert Bernard of Detroit told of his discovery of the "vicious psychology," a disease or an insanity for which he held prohibition responsible. "It is a quick leap," said he, "from the prohibition booze in father's cellar to the taking of narcotic drugs or immorality. The leap is made easy by the alcohol and the psychological stimulant produced by the physical wiggle in a jazz dance."

RAILROAD NOTES

The railroad shopmen in Canada have made an appeal to Railway Association of Canada for an increase of 10 cents per hour. The shopmen ask that negotiations be commenced as soon as possible. It is also requested that the time and one-half for Sunday work be included as a part of the new working plan schedule.

The New York Central's museum train will begin its tour on July 16. Many places in New York and Pennsylvania will be visited. The train will be made up of 11 cars and will show, by exhibiting working models, and other exhibits, the progress that has been made in railroading during the past 100 years. The special train has been prepared under the direction of railroad experts and is solely for education purposes.

Railroads report that fewer bad order locomotives are in the shops at this time than at any other period in a number of months. These, it is stated, are being rapidly conditioned for service. The majority of the locomotives require only slight repairs and much progress is being made toward making them ready for service this Fall and Winter.

Voluntary reduction in freight tariffs have been announced by the Quebec & Montreal Southern Railway. This road is the Canadian subsidiary of the Delaware and Hudson in the United States. While it is necessary to consult the Railway Board when increased rates are desired, it is not necessary to do so when lower rates are the issue, the railroad being requested only to issue new tariff schedules.

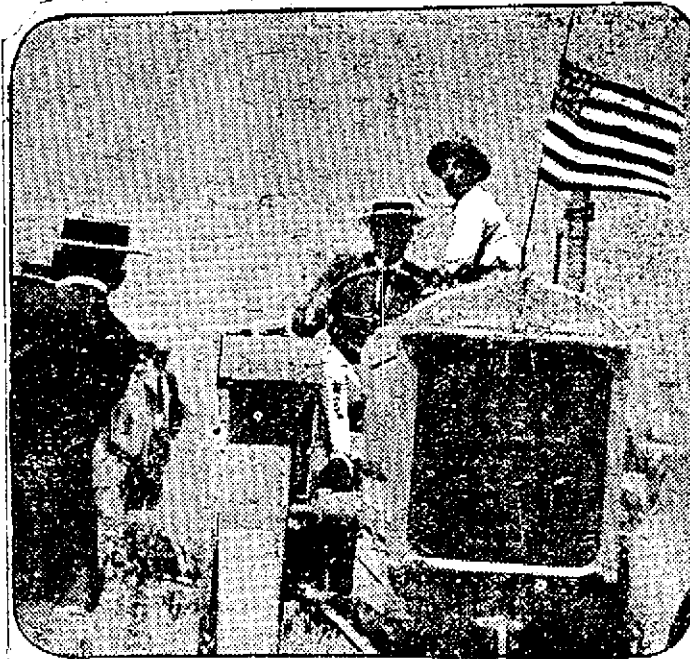

PROPOSES COMMON SENSE IN SAFETY EDUCATION

New Haven, July 6.—Safety instruction in the public schools which teaches children to avoid accidents in street traffic is as necessary a part of education as the three "R's" in this day of complex civilization. Dr. E. George Payne, professor of education at New York University, told the convention of School Superintendents and Principals of Connecticut in session at Yale University today.

Eighty thousand men, women and children met death by accident in the United States during the last year, the speaker said. Of this number 49,000, a life every ten minutes, might have been saved by the general application of safety instruction in schools. "The reason for this needless sacrifice is that the development of modern civilization has been so rapid our intelligence has not kept up with it."

Installation of safety instruction

President Harding takes the wheel of a tractor pulling a wheat binder on the Chester O'Neill farm at Hutchinson, Kan., and thus for a brief spell becomes a dirt farmer.

would require but inconsequential changes in present public school curricula," Dr. Payne declared. "The method simply assumes that the teacher utilize accident situations to give purpose to the school work. In writing exercises, instead of writing the familiar 'Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the party' we can write 'In crossing the streets look first to the left and then to the right.'"

"Instead of drawing sunsets and shady forests, something within the experience of the child should be chosen, such as the right way and the wrong way of getting on and off street cars, and the right way of crossing streets."

CENTRAL STATES NOTE BIG INCREASE IN AUTO TRAVEL

Chicago, July 6.—There has been approximately fourteen percent more travel by touring automobiles through the Central States, both east and west, during the first five months of this year than during the corresponding months of last year, according to statistics compiled by the Chicago Automobile club.

During the first five months in 1923, 17,443 motorists, registered at the Chicago club, as compared with 15,153 during the first five months of 1922. The answers to the call of the road began in January, when 1,960 tourists registered. This was 50 percent more than in 1922 when 1,308 tourists stopped at the club during January. The travel continued heavy during February, when 1,276 registered as compared with 1,009 during February, 1922. The March figures were: 2,023 in 1923 and 1,594 in 1922. In April 3,915 registered as compared with 3,862 in April, 1922.

The increase jumped again in May when 8,268 tourists registered as compared with 7,389 in May, 1922.

Commissioner Griffin Gives Report on Fees For 1923

John T. Griffin, N. H. Commissioner of motor vehicles reports that the total fees collected during the first six months of this year was $1,038,938.65. This amount was the return for licenses issued to 52,434 automobiles, 1590 motorcycles, 355 trailers, 18,878 chauffeurs and 38,864 operators. The number of cars registered on June 30 was 3000 more than was registered during the entire 12 months in 1922, and they are still registering in large numbers every day.

RECKLESS DRIVER FINED

Hampton Beach, July 4.—In the Hampton municipal court today before Judge Howell M. Lamprey James S. Hayes of Maple road, Salem, Mass., was fined $25 and costs for reckless driving. CHATS WITH YOUR GAS MAN

GAS SERVICE, and the modern gas water heater and gas range, are marvels of the age that nobody recognizes as such because they are so easy to get and so generally used.

It's a wonderful thing to have fire at the turn of a valve, and heat under control to the fraction of a degree of temperature.

Just turn the flame on and the job is done. And when you're through you can turn it off. It doesn't continue to consume fuel and funds after the need for it has passed. And it doesn't over-heat when you have heat enough.

No ashes, no smoke, no soot, no storage space. We could enumerate hundreds of selling points to convince you that if it is done with heat, you can do it better with gas.

BUTTER

Does Your Child Keep Up In His School Work?

If not—the chances are he is not getting proper food. For authorities say every third child in America's public schools is undernourished—and largely for lack of the important "growth stimulant" known as vitamins.

This mysterious food element is found more richly in butter than in any other food.

Give your child plenty of butter—it is a wise safeguard. No food is more nourishing.

And to be sure of pure, wholesome butter, with a
"country-made" flavor,

COUNCIL LIKE TO HOLD MEETING WITH NOBODY PRESENT

The Mayor and Council held a meeting the night before the Fourth and there were no newspapermen present to inform the public as to what is going on. Up to this administration it has been an unfailing custom at City Hall to notify the newspapers when a special meeting of the Council is to be held. There is no way that the newspapers can keep track, as the meetings are called by the Mayor at his pleasure, sometimes on short notice. A meeting of the Council is a public matter which should be given to the press.

There was not very much business transacted, the revised ordinances which have been the subject of several sessions of the Council in a committee of the whole, have at last been whipped into a position that is acceptable to the Council and they passed their second reading on Tuesday night.

The dump on South street, the subject of years of controversy, was again brought before the Council by Councilman Gray who strongly objected to the present condition, with the rats etc., but he was informed that there was no relief in sight until the garbage incinerator was installed, an appropriation having been made by the Council.

Councilman Boynton recommended that the sum of $300 be set aside for the redecoration of the South Ward room and this was so voted.

The sum of $40 was appropriated to decorate City Hall during the Centenary.

Miss Mignon Green and others from Madison street asked that something be done to clear up the condition at the Madison street reservoir and the matter was finally referred to Councilman Boynton to suggest to the Board of Public Works that the reservoir be filled with the gravel taken from Miller avenue when the paving is done.

The petition of Edith B. Brown and others regarding the sewer on Prospect street was referred to the Board of Public Works.

The auditor's report of bills amounting to $1,135.48 was ordered paid.

A petition of A. J. Collins for a jitney license was referred to the Committee on Jitneys. A like petition by Thomas S. Jackson was referred to the same committee.

A petition by M. S. Whalen for a popcorn stand in front of his place of business was refused.

A petition of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company relative to locations for new poles was referred to the Inspector of Poles and Wires.

Dr. Paul's monthly report was read and accepted and placed on file.

Councilman Boynton read for the second time the new city ordinances and they passed their second reading.

The auditor's report was read and accepted. The bills amounting to $1,135.48 and on motion of Councilman Collins were paid.

Councilman Boynton reported that the South Ward Room is in bad condition and warranted repairs as a committee from the ward room had petitioned for $300 was appropriated for the repairs to the South Ward Room.

Councilman Collins reported what was done for the night before the Fourth celebration and the committee was rendered a vote of thanks.

Councilman Gray spoke on the condition of the dump on South street. He said that the smoke and odor from the dump was an unbearable nuisance. The rats which are attracted by the garbage in the dump are also getting to be a menace to the community. He was assured that nothing could be done except to hurry along the garbage incinerator.

On motion of Councilman Emery the meeting adjourned.

LAD FRIGHTENS PEOPLE BY DARING STUNTS ON ROOF

A small boy gave the people about Daniel street an unpleasant half hour on Thursday afternoon. He had climbed out on the roof of the Nannis Block and persisted in running about the roof as though it was on the ground and took great delight in standing on the edge and threatening to jump off. He was finally induced to come down from the roof and it is hoped to a good spanking.

BUSINESS INCREASE MEANS LARGER QUARTERS

The Berry Sign Company have moved their place of business from Congress street to 135 Penhallow St., where they now have an entire building. The great increase in the business made it necessary to move into much larger quarters and in the new plant the big company will be able to handle the big signs with dispatch.

Beware of Cheap Synthetic Syrups!

They not only cheat you of a wonderful enjoyment that is yours with "Z-A-REX," but ACTUALLY COST YOU MORE THAN GENUINE "Z-A-REX." Because a PINT of genuine "Z-A-REX" makes a GALLON of rich, full-bodied zesty Fruit Drinks. And to anywhere near duplicate just the strength of this wonderful "Z-A-REX" Gallon would require at least a QUART of synthetic syrup.

So don't be misled by unscrupulous dealers trying to unload cheap, wishy-washy imitations in place of full-fruited "Z-A-REX"—or who say these artificial products are made by the makers of "Z-A-REX" but bottled or "jugged" under a different name. The makers of "Z-A-REX" neither make nor bottle any beverage except "Z-A-REX," and "Z-A-REX" is sold only under the label shown in this advertisement.

Avoid disappointment! Insure getting the best and most your money can buy in the way of a fruit drink. Always demand "Z-A-REX" by name and always look for the "Z-A-REX" label.

Positively Refuse Substitutes!

It isn't enough just to look for a "Jug." Buy by the NAME. If the first store you go to doesn't carry genuine "Z-A-REX," it will pay you to protect yourself by going next door to the dealer who DOES sell the REAL THING!
